Things Ruled Out - or off checklist

Brain Aneurysm

Repaired!

Parkinsons

Some symptoms matched - think with MRI/MRA this is cleared up for me.

Hypothyroid

My mother had a thyroid disorder, my sister has Graves disease, from my symptom list I thought this would be good to rule out. My GP wanted to rely alone on the TSH level. I told him I thought a full thyroid panel would be good to run. http://hypothyroidmom.com/top-5-reasons-doctors-fail-to-diagnose-hypothyroidism/

He did not want to do it, so I told him that was fine, I would order it and pay out of pocket. He decided to order it.

I also brought up that what is "normal" for others may not be "normal" for me given one condition that a scientific study has shown effects the HPA Axis. I have both DID (multifaceted wonder order enjoying being able to organize as a gender and identity fluid in whatever combination in the flow best serves my path in the flow the now) and PTSD. Things could be wonky because of this.

http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC2567868/

Hypothyroid symptoms

Should do this - I don't think I should rule out something wonky with my thyroid.

https://www.nahypothyroidism.org/comprehensive-list-of-thyroid-symptoms-printable-checklist/

http://hypothyroidmom.com/300-hypothyroidism-symptoms-yes-really/

Dry skin

hair loss

low body temperature

difficulty swallowing

trembling in hands, more the left than right too tired to fill this out - but enough to say - there might very well be something wonky with my thyroid